IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE STATE OF IOWA
IN AND FOR JEFFERSON COUNTY

In re the Marriage of
FREDERICK JAMES SHADDOCK and OKSANA SHEMET SHADDOCK

Upon the Petition of FREDERICK JAMES SHADDOCK, Petitioner, And Concerning OKSANA SHEMET SHADDOCK, Respondent.	Equity No. CDCV402015 REQUEST FOR STAY AWAY ORDER (2nd Request)

Comes now Petitioner before the Court to make a second, urgent request a Stay Away Order against the Respondent. The first request on 5/30/2024 was denied. The predicted mayhem came to pass. It is an invitation to disaster to allow a hotly contested divorcing couple to live together until the final hearing months away (January 30, 2025). Respondent flew from the marital condo in Washington DC to the marital Fairfield Iowa house on June 3. She immediately began harassing the 3 tenants, making them uncomfortable. There was yelling and screaming. She caused 2 non-emergency calls to 911 (Fairfield Police Report PD2405138), resulting tn the Fairfield Police coming to the Iowa house, wasting their time and taxpayer funded resources. Within days all tenants had moved out. Petitioner was left with no income for the mortgage and utilities.

On July 20, Respondent made a trumped-up, self-inflicted, scratched-finger, fake-assault charge against the Petitioner. She demanded to stop at a food store and grabbed the ignition key chain cutting her finger on the sharp belt clip. She opened the passenger door and started to step out while the car was moving, a crazy move. Respondent pulled the ignition key chain back, which scratched her left index finger. He pulled her back in the car by her upper left arm. Her action is a sign of psychological instability, dangerous to herself and others.

Respondent went to the Police station and made a false report of assault (SMSM008599) After investigating her story, the Prosecutor made the motion to dismiss the case. But Respondent wasted many hours of Law Enforcement resources. She did not disclose that her finger cut was the result of her action trying to grab the car key chain while being driven in the car. A divorced, single mother friend advised her that charging the husband with assault will get sympathy from the divorce Judge. Her stunt caused Petitioner a week of lost work time and expenses, until the County Attorney petitioned the Judge to Dismiss the charge.

Oksana often threatens to call the 911 emergency Police dispatcher for non-emergency reasons, such as being "disrespectful" or renting rooms to ladies. If she is sincerely in danger, then she is entitled to call 911. But she uses this ability as a control mechanism over Petitioner. A compilation of videos of her threatening to call 911 for non-emergencies, for years, in violation of Iowa Code §718.6, is at www.911FakeCalls.com

Respondent admitted to going into Petitioner's office, opening his safe, and taking his manila folder about this divorce case. Petitioner cannot find his passport. This is unfair, as Petitioner has not gone to the DC condo in over a year, and has none of her records. Her planned 9/21 trip to Iowa will likely cause more trouble.

Petitioner prays for a Stay Away Order on the Respondent until the Divorce hearing date on January 30, to prevent a needless further altercation between Guest and Respondent, or the Fairfield Police having to respond to a yet another domestic dispute at 806 North 4th. A Police Report could hurt Respondent's Security Clearance for jobs in DC. Respondent is likely to concoct another trumped-up allegation, or to badger and nag him into a response, which puts Petitioner at constant risk in his own home. Petitioner has high blood pressure and is very nervous when Respondent comes from the DC condo to the house in Fairfield. Petitioner's tenants, and potential next wife, are worried about Respondent coming to the Iowa house and threatening their safety.

This order will help Respondent to realize the marriage is functionaly over, become less attached emotionally from Fairfield and Petitioner, and move on with her life in Washington, DC She is in a perfect city to find financially stable men, many who work for the U.S. Government, or retired on generous pensions. Petitioner is indigent by comparison. Petitioner promises that any of Respondent's belongings in Iowa are kept safe, stored as she requests, or sent to the condo in DC, which will likely be awarded to her upon divorce.

Petitioner prays for the divorce hearing to be held via Zoom or electronic meeting, for the convenience of Respondent in Washington, DC.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED

Frederick Shaddock, Petitioner, pro se
